

Editorial Note for Research & Reviews: Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences

Sai Vishal Goud*

Department of Pharmacy, Mallareddy College of Pharmacy, India

Editorial

Received date: 12/08/2020;

Accepted date: 24/08/2020;

Published date: 31/08/2020;

For Correspondence:

Sai Vishal Goud, Pharmacist, Master of Pharmacy in Biotechnology, Mallareddy College of Pharmacy, India.

Tel: + 8121653836

E-mail: saivishalgoudpothuraju@gmail.com

Keywords: Editorial, Nursing, Research & Development

ABSTRACT

The editorial mission of Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences is to report scientific research findings that advance understanding of all aspects of health. Research across the spectrum of biological, behavioral, psychosocial, spiritual, and cultural factors in health is published. Nursing intervention and outcome research furthermore as qualitative and mixed methods analysis are within the editorial focus of Nursing Research. Basic, translational, and clinical research is published. Research about nursing systems and nursing resource management is also published as is research describing new or advanced Research methods, Analytic strategies, and Analysis protocols. Our mission at Nursing and Health Sciences is to report scientific research findings that advance understanding of all aspects of health. We intend to do this in the way we understand best-through editorial assessment, peer review, academic editing, and highly efficient production processes. We hope that all researchers strive to make their research findings known through careful, unbiased publication such as we aim to provide at Nursing and Health Sciences. We welcome your comments and, importantly, your continued contributions to achieve the mission we have set for ourselves and nursing science.

EDITORIAL

The editorial mission of Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences is to report scientific research findings that advance understanding of all aspects of health. Research across the spectrum of biological, behavioral, psychosocial, spiritual, and cultural factors in health is published. Nursing intervention and outcome research furthermore as qualitative and mixed methods analysis are within the editorial focus of Nursing Research. Basic, translational, and clinical research is published. Research about nursing systems and nursing resource management is also published as is research describing new or advanced Research methods, Analytic strategies, and Analysis protocols.

Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences is a peer reviewed, double-blind journal. It is our pleasure to announce that during year 2019, all issues of volume 5 were published online on time and the print issues were also brought out and dispatched within 30 days of publishing the issue online.

Research & Reviews: Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences

Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences throughout this year also brought out 28th World Congress on Nursing Care, 29th International Conference on Nursing Care and Nursing Education and International Conference on Nursing care practice, which consisted of ~ 50 abstracts.

All published articles of this journal are included in the indexing and abstracting coverage of Cosmos IF, RefSeek, Hamdard University, Cosmos, Geneva Foundation for Medical Education and Research, Studies receiving funding from a funding organization that is included on the list of PMC and Research Funder Policies or authors having NIH grant were submitted to PubMed.

Nursing and Health Sciences has a long and distinguished record in the history of nursing science. Since its launch in 2015, Nursing and Health Sciences has been a “cooperative venture” of scientists, professional organizations, publisher, editorial staff, and readers to circulate scientific papers in nursing to improve care, alleviate suffering, and advance well-being. Today, Nursing and Health Sciences continues as a preeminent journal in the field of Nursing.

During the calendar year 2019, JNHS received a total of 58 papers, out of which 32 articles (58%) were rejected in the preliminary screening due to plagiarism or being out of the format and peer review process. During 2019 around 22 articles were subjected for publication after they are accepted in the peer review process. In the 4 issues of Volume 5 published during the year 2019, a total of 24 articles were published (at an average of 6 articles per issue) of which, articles were published from authors all around the world. A total of 110 research scientists from all over the world reviewed the 36 articles published in volume 5. Average publication lag time of an article was further reduced to 2-3 weeks.

Nursing and Health Sciences publishes regular papers and brief reports in the following areas: Research Reports (Original, empirical research findings in areas of interest to nursing scientists) , Reviews (Reviews in biological sciences or symptom science), Methods (Development and application of new methods. Measurement, statistics, informatics and analytics, qualitative, and mixed methods approaches. May include secondary analysis of previously reported data to illustrate leading edge methods), Brief Reports, Commentaries, Case reports, Short communications.

Our mission at Nursing and Health Sciences is to report scientific research findings that advance understanding of all aspects of health. We intend to do this in the way we understand best-through editorial assessment, peer review, academic editing, and highly efficient production processes. We hope that all researchers strive to make their research findings known through careful, unbiased publication such as we aim to provide at Nursing and Health Sciences. We welcome your comments and, importantly, your continued contributions to achieve the mission we have set for ourselves and nursing science.