

During 2019, we have published articles on various topics which include research, review, short communication and editorials. Of which Effectiveness of a New Method for The Management of Impacted Canines with a New Mini-implant with a Bracket shaped Head, Effect of Ultrasound on Cleaning with Citric Acid from the Radicular Duct System. An Analysis of Variable Qualitative Response in R Language, Validating Antibacterial Efficacy of Essential Oils Combinations against Dental Caries Pathogens, 1st Dental Visit: An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth a Pound of Cure, Every Bone Has Its Tone: An Orthodontist's Perception, Laser Use for Various Conservative and Endodontic Procedures - A Review were cited and downloaded by many other contemporary researchers.

It is normal during the unfurling COVID-19 pandemic to concentrate on crisis reaction arranging, including regulation, treatment techniques, and antibody improvement, and no one would question the requirement for these measures. Be that as it may, a crisis can likewise open a new chance for reflection and learning. Research & Reviews: Journal of Dental Sciences is planning to release special issues should focus on "Novel Covid-19".

Reviews: Journal of Dental Sciences aims to supply Researchers with resources in order to provide the scientific knowledge through the publication of peer-reviewed, high quality, scientific papers and other material on all topics related to Dentistry, Orthodontics, Endodontics, Public Health Dentistry, Dental Engineering, Restorative Dentistry, Pediatric Dentistry, Dental Bonding, Dental Cavities, Dental Materials, Osseointegration, Dental pedagogy and all other fields which fall under the scope of Dental Sciences.

Reviews: Journal of Dental Sciences posts its published articles in Twitter and LinkedIn accounts and also they are posted in the blogs. Everyday one can find our tweets not only about the articles published in the issues but also we are providing updates regarding the topics relevant to the topics of journal.

We would like to thank all the editors and reviewers, who are supporting us continuously to publish qualified articles and information. Even though they are busy with their regular university and research works they are extending their time and knowledge for the betterment of the journal.